

ABSTRACT

Method and apparatus for exposing an application object model to web-based clients. The various embodiments involve parsing each HTTP-form-processing request received from a client by a web server. As the property names are obtained from the HTTP-form-processing request, the objects in the object model are traversed. When the end of the HTTP-form-processing request is reached and the object model is traversed, a selected property of a referenced object is returned to the client.